Target Audience and Entry Requirements

The M1 IES e-learning is a program in economics open to diverse audiences, ranging from humanities and social sciences to science and technology backgrounds, from universities to engineering schools. The courses cover various disciplines such as economics, management, marketing, law, and English. It allows non-economists to explore economics and economists to specialize further. Prerequisites include knowledge in economics and/or mathematics. Students from various disciplines often have the necessary skills, while those from other fields must demonstrate proficiency in economics and/or mathematics through prior education, interest in the subjects, MOOCs, etc.
